LAS CRUCES ELKS PROVE LIVELY BUNCH

Their Social Affairs Are the Features in the Life of the Town.

Las Cruces, N. M., Jan. 10.—Besides being "jolly good fellows," the Las Cruces Elks are also the prince of entertainers. An Elks' lodge in every town is the center of much of the social life and this is particularly true in Las Cruces, where the entertainments must be mostly home made affairs. Although it has been organized less than two years, the Las Cruces lodge, No. 1119, now has an even 100 members and its record during its short but eventful life is one of social activity and fraternal affiliation.

A series of monthly entertainments have been arranged by the entertainment committee of the local lodge to include dances, open meetings, smokers and social sessions. The first of this series of entertainments was given Friday evening, taking the form of an informal dance for the members and their friends. Thirty-five couples attended the opening of the Elks' social season and danced until after midnight.

Informal Dance.
The Elks' lodge rooms are ideally arranged for such informal affairs as the dance given Friday evening. The dancing floor adjoins the lodge room, which is used for a reception hall and parlor, and the luncheon was served from an improvised buffet in one corner of the ball room. The informal feature of these dances are the most enjoyable part of the program for everyone knows everyone else and it is like a big family gathering when the good fellows and their friends get together. Those present at the opening dance were: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Paxton, James A. Franch, M. E. Thompson, C. D. Thompson, Fay Sperry, J. F. Sattley, C. A. Sattley, D. F. Baker, Earl Patterson, B. B. Jones, W. C. Field, G. D. Martin, E. P. Robert and Fred Hess, Mrs. P. W. Parker, Mrs. M. Miller, Misses Ascarate, Armijo, Patchett, Senett, Bristol, Jahn, Lohman; Messrs. Oden, Pierce, May, Peacock, Llewellyn, Case, Seale, Fuller, Hopps, Heineman and Dessauer.

Lodge Officers.
The present officers of the Las Cruces lodge, B. P. O. E., are: Dr. R. E. McBride, exalted ruler; John H. May, esteemed leading knight; George Frenger, esteemed loyal knight; George Paxton, esteemed lecturing knight; Henry Stoes, treasurer; L. W. Case, secretary. The lodge was organized largely through the efforts of C. D. Case, who was the first exalted ruler and who has since been given an honorary life membership in appreciation of his activities in the organization and early history of the order. The lodge was installed on May 20, 1908. A delegation of the El Paso lodge attended the installation on board a special train and the degree work was performed by well known Elks of El Paso and New Mexico. The second anniversary of the installation will be celebrated by the Las Cruces lodge with appropriate ceremonies.

COLDER LAST WEEK IN LAS CRUCES THAN IN EL PASO
Las Cruces, N. M., Jan. 10.—For once Las Cruces had nothing over El Paso in the way of better climate. During the recent little unpleasantness of the weather, this valley of heart's desire has been suffering "some few" from the cold. The sun has been on the job almost every day but for some reason he failed to cheer as usual. To be frank it was cold in Las Cruces. Not as cold as it was in Hoboken or East Jersey, but cold nevertheless.

BROTHER OF MAJOR DROSS DIES AT ELBING, GERMANY
Las Cruces, N. M., Jan. 10.—Although the funeral had been held several weeks previous, Maj. Robert Dross received the first information of his brother, Walter's death, in Germany, last week. A letter just received announces the death of the brother of the Las Cruces banker at his home in Elbing, Germany, where he was one of the most prominent citizens.

THE PARTY THAT WAS NOT GIVEN IN LAS CRUCES

Las Cruces, N. M., Jan. 10.—This is another tale of two cities. Or, to be more exact, a tale of one city and a rapidly growing town; the same being El Paso and Las Cruces. Now that the double daily train service is in effect, El Paso beaux may call on their Las Cruces affinites and vice versa, without loss of time from business on the part of the young swains and a correspondingly pleasant evening for the Las Cruces girls.

Two young men, both employed in a well known El Paso department store, had planned to spend their week end in Las Cruces in general and at a certain vine covered house on the acacia in particular. But it was discovered that both young men would have to work late Saturday night and it would be out of the question for them to go to Cruces. A hurried long distance call was sent into central. "The party does not answer," was the reply central made to each call at the El Paso end of the long distance.

In Las Cruces two girls were making hurried preparations for a spread and all of the pleasant attachments for their own little crowd with two El Paso boys as the guest of honor. The kind of sandwiches these two young men liked best were given a prominent place on the menu of the spread. Everything was in readiness for their arrival when the Santa Fe tooted for the water tank. But no El Pasoans. The special kind of sandwiches sat untouched on the sideboard and the girls sat in the parlor until long after the old depot bus had been put to bed for the night. Explanations and counter explanations are now due from El Paso to the Las Cruces end of the phone line.

M. FREUDENTHAL RETURNS FROM OLD GERMAN HOME

Las Cruces, N. M., Jan. 10.—To the old time traveling man who make this territory it looked like the good old days to see Maurice Freudenthal behind the counter at the Don Bernardo hotel again. Since the death of Mrs. Freudenthal, the proprietor of the Main street hotel has been abroad and has had a competent manager in charge of the hotel. But Mr. Freudenthal returned last week and, although the active management of the Don Bernardo is in the hands of another, he cannot resist the temptation to get behind the counter, audit the bills and check off for many years.

Mr. Freudenthal and his typical hotel of the southwest are known to every traveling man who makes this territory and they have all been his guests countless times when in Las Cruces. Mr. Freudenthal has extensive real estate interests both in Las Cruces and the valley and he would not need to work again if he did not care to, but the lure of the hotel game is too strong for him and he will continue to be actively connected with the hotel whose history is so closely linked with his own.

CRUCES TO HAVE NEW LIVERY STABLE AND UNDERTAKER

Las Cruces, N. M., Jan. 10.—The Mesilla Valley and Las Cruces is to have a new livery stable at the same time. C. M. Poole, of New Orleans La., arrived here Saturday and is arranging to open a new livery stable in the old M. T. Brown stables on Courthouse street now owned by James T. Smith. In addition to the livery stable, Mr. Poole will also open a new undertaking parlor.

LAS CRUCES PERSONALS.

Las Cruces, N. M., Jan. 10.—H. C. Bowman made a business trip to El Paso Saturday, returning on the north-bound train Saturday evening.

C. D. Case, formerly a rancher in the valley, is now located in Chicago.

Pasco Costales is building a new house on his lots in Dona Ana.

Earl Patterson and wife were down from Selden for the Elks' dance Friday night and remained over Sunday with Mrs. Patterson's parents.

Jeff Isaacs was in from his ranch Saturday.

C. M. Barber, southwestern agent for the Reo and Oldsmobile autos, was here Saturday on business. He left Saturday evening for Albuquerque.

Mrs. L. A. Broadbent and Miss Lena Broadbent were in El Paso Friday.

A. R. Coleman, secretary of the chamber of commerce, spent Saturday and Sunday in El Paso.

R. L. Young, acting mayor, attorney, amateur agriculturist, and humorist, has been confined to his home with an attack of something or other for the past week. During his temporary absence from the municipal plot wheel, Rodney Fry, town clerk, is in command.

R. P. Porter has been in El Paso for the past two days because of the illness of his son, who is under the care of an El Paso physician.

L. W. Case went to El Paso Saturday evening and from there to San Elizario, Texas, on a brief business trip.

Prof. Fabian Garcia, of the Agricultural college, is confined to his home here with a severe cold.

Karl P. Pallat, a traveling man, of El Paso, was here Saturday calling on the local business men.

ranch in the upper part of the valley and who is a member of the commission, came up from El Paso to attend the meeting.

WATER PIPE BURSTS.

Las Cruces, N. M., Jan. 10.—A broken water pipe in one of the offices of the second floor of the First National bank building gave the Manasse brothers a little sample of the flood of ancient history Saturday morning. The water began leaking through on the dry goods early Saturday morning and before the leak had been stopped a good sized duck puddle had formed on the floor of the store.

ISIDORO ARMILLO, JR., BETTER.

Las Cruces, N. M., Jan. 10.—Little Willard Isidoro Armillo, the 18 months old son of Isidoro Armillo, the probate clerk and county recorder, has almost entirely recovered from the recent attack of pneumonia, which necessitated sending to El Paso for a trained nurse. The son and heir of the Dona Ana county "Sunny Jim Sherman" is now out of danger and the father is sleeping nights.

BUYING HORSES.

Las Cruces, N. M., Jan. 10.—Meadows Bros., a well known firm of horse-buyers, are here from east Texas buying a carload of range horses to ship back to their Texas ranch. A number of horses and mules were purchased from Jeff Isaacs and several other ranchmen disposed of their extra horses to the buyers.

LA MESA NEWS.

La Mesa, N. M., Jan. 10.—J. R. Livesay and Frank Herroa were in Las Cruces recently.

Dr. Bailey has returned from El Paso. Dr. Bailey, of El Paso, was here recently with a number of land buyers.

Mrs. Richard and Miss Mary Cooke were visitors to Las Cruces recently.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. White have returned from California, where they have been visiting for the past month.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Reeder of Earham were in town lately.

Mrs. R. J. Yiljoen entertained the Merry Villagers club recently. A pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

The passenger line between Vado and La Mesa, conducted by J. R. Livesay, has proved a great convenience to the La Mesa people.
